DANIELSON

The county experienced a loss of $3,123.01 in the operation of the jail at Brooklyn during the last financial year, the report of the commissioners of Windham county shows. This is in direct contrast to the profits of several thousand dollars that the institution used to show each year when men were committed to jail in much larger numbers than was the rule before the advent of prohibition. This is not an argument in favor of men or women, getting themselves jailed in order that this particular institution shall be an asset rather than a liability. It merely calls attention to an impressive change.

This year the receipts at the jail were very considerable—a matter of $7,455.89—but they did not near match the expenditures, which, even with the careful administration, amounted to $10,578.90.

Of the receipts the state paid $2,124.94 for the board of prisoners. The past year the earnings of prisoners amounted to only $1,448.45, as against several times that amount when there were more prisoners and a great amount of outside work was performed by them. Sales of products and groceries at the jail this year amounted to $160.13 and the sale of live stock to $87. The sale of beef, pork, veal and hides brought in a revenue amounting to $1,048.21. Sales of live stock amounted to $106.27, of ice to $216.86, of a cement mixer $150 and sundry other sales $45.98.

Included in the expense account was $2,364.51 for provisions, $970.19 for clothing, $1,513.38 for hay, grain and straw, $579.76 for fuel, $1,259 salary of the assistant jailer, $2,093.55 for the side labor, $156 for housework, $392.53 for blacksmithing, $249 for electric lights, $127.04 for furnishings, $360.95 for medicines and attendance, $1,291.10 for maintenance of automobile truck, $1,075.55 for repairs, $168 for live stock and other minor items.

The commissioners' report shows the county assets to be $154,215.59, which is made up in large part of real estate (jail and county home properties) valued at $87,688, personal property valued at $29,481.19 at the jail and county home, county law library, $6,000; county sealers' outfit, $500. Outstanding as liabilities are temporary orders amounting to $10,228.

Keeping for the formality of giving the lease, arrangements are practically completed between Frank Barber and Albert Trahan, lessees of the town hall, for arranging with Robert Pellerin to stage basketball games there during the winter season.

Mr. Pellerin has hoped Wednesday that negotiations may go forward so rapidly as to allow of playing the first game here on Thanksgiving night. Basketball has been a consistently popular sport with Danielson lovers of athletics and has drawn well for several seasons past. Mr. Pellerin already has in mind the list of players for his team, and it can be said that they will give Danielson a playing combination that will be hard to beat, assuring local patrons high class sport.

Hunters will thoroughly clean and put away their guns this (Thursday) evening and regretfully greet the arrival of the closed season on protected game. Everything considered the present hunting season has been fairly satisfactory. Many hunters have had excellent success and have brought in plentiful supplies of game birds and rabbits. Squirrels have not been found in any number in this territory this fall, though some have had luck in getting them. Numbers of pheasants and partridges have been shot and a few woodcock and quail. Rabbit hunting will continue after today, but under such restrictions as are provided by law.

Immediately upon release of their present heavy budget of Christmas and Thrift club money Danielson banks are to organize new clubs to be maintained through the coming year. Saving stamps each week for holiday shopping has become a fixed habit with hundreds in Danielson and other places in vicinity and as the totals paid out each Christmas-time have increased from year to year it is anticipated that a new high record will be set in 1923.

Thousands of French-speaking residents in towns along the Quinebaug valley were interested on Wednesday in the Bulletin's announcement that Georges Clemenceau, war premier of France, will make a brief stop at New London this morning while en route from New York to Boston. He may be greeted by thousands who wish to see him. There are numbers of the sons and

PUTNAM

All of Wednesday's session of the superior court was occupied with trial of the case of Arthur W. Greene vs. William S. Brown, owner of Shepard Hill farm of Wauregan, the action being one in which the plaintiff seeks to recover the amounts, with interest, of two notes, overdue and unpaid, these notes having been given by Mr. Brown to Mr. Greene in connection with a cattle deal in which Mr. Brown purchased a herd of 24 head from Mr. Greene in April, 1919. The case was tried before Judge Kellogg and a jury. Attorneys Charles E. Searls and Arthur G. Bill of Danielson represented Mr. Greene, while attorneys Charles L. Torrey and Harry E. Beck appeared for Mr. Brown. The amounts due on the notes is $2775.78. Against this Mr. Brown has entered a counter claim for damages of $3,000.

Mr. Greene, now engaged as a manufacturer of gas engines, was the first witness. He told of a deal in which he sold Mr. Brown the cattle in question for a total of $2775. Mr. Brown gave a series of notes, two of which remain unpaid and which resulted in the court action.

As the second witness Mr. Brown testified to having purchased the cattle and stated that it was agreed between himself and the plaintiff at the time the purchase was made that the cattle should be pure bred Friesian-Holsteins, tuberculin tested and free from tuberculosis and that registration and transfer papers should be furnished, covering each animal, by Mr. Greene to the plaintiff. Mr. Brown said that the cattle arrived at Central Village by express in the latter part of April, 1919, and were taken to his farm. An agent of Mr. Greene came to the Brown farm with the cattle. Upon inspecting them, Mr. Brown said that he found some animals he had not purchased and had never seen until he looked at them in his barn, which was brand new and modern structure never before used and built as a part of Mr. Brown's plans to engage in breeding and selling pure bred Holsteins in this part of the country.

During the late spring and summer some of the cows did not thrive well, Mr. Brown said, and appeared to be listless and not feeding well. Eventually one of them became ill to the point of death and on the carcass being opened it was found the cow had been ill with tuberculosis. This cow passed out in August, 1919. Another died in November. Still another died in December. The third was found to be tubercular.

In the meantime Mr. Brown said he was having difficulty in getting registration papers on some of the animals and this eventually led to his getting into difficulties and being threatened with lawsuits because he could not furnish registration papers on calves that he had sold. In 1918, under tuberculin testing,

The support of Representative-elect Charles S. Hyde of Brooklyn is to tender to his friends in Grange hall in Brooklyn is scheduled for this (Thursday) evening, not on Wednesday evening, as stated in this column on Wednesday.

Wednesday remained the most consistently cold day of the fall season. Ice that melted during the previous night remained in many sheltered spots throughout the day. Early morning temperatures as low as 22 degrees were reported.

The canvass in the interest of the Red Cross, now carrying out its annual roll call campaign in Danielson, is progressing. Workers are making a house to house visitation as a part of the program of work here.

A delegation from the Westfield Congregational church was at Putnam Wednesday to attend a missionary institute for Congregationalists in this part of the county.

The building of fences along the new state highway to Little Rest is far advanced. Some of the new fences have been painted. The fences are of regulation state road type.

An interesting auction sale at which live stock, turkeys, geese and poultry were offered was conducted Wednesday at the Wells farm in East Brooklyn by Witter Brothers and attracted buyers from all the countryside.

Herbert Barber, who returned from New Haven where he was called by the illness and death of his mother, Mrs. Jeannette Barber, for whom funeral services were held at New Haven Tuesday, burial being in the family lot at Ardenway, H. F. Additional electric light services are being constantly added at East Killingly, where oil lamps have been discarded and the new homes and business places, probably never again to want to use kerosene. George C. Herick of Bridgeport was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Wednesday.

A number of Danielson people will be at New Haven Saturday to attend the Yale-Harvard football game, for which nearly 80,000 tickets have been sold.

At the Goodyear mills in this town preparations are being made to increase the output of cord fabrics, which seems on the way to entirely displacing the flat fabric of which tires have been made for many years.

WHAT TRAINING HAVE YOU FOR THE JOB? HOW WILL YOU REPLY TO THIS QUESTION?

Several members of the herd reacted. In the meantime correspondence was going on between Mr. Brown and Mr. Greene about the herd and the upshot of the whole situation was that Mr. Brown finally shipped back all the animals that remained of the original herd he had purchased from Mr. Greene and several of the herd's offspring. Mr. Brown accompanied the animals back to Ohio. Mr. Brown claims that he was put to great loss and inconvenience by his experience with the cattle from the Greene farm and as compensation asks damages of $3,000.

During the course of the day veterinary men who had professionally visited the herd in question while it was at the Brown farm testified as to nature of the disease and of the results of tuberculin tests made at the Brown farm. Others familiar with cattle testified of their knowledge of the Brown herd and the condition of certain of the animals at the time they were sold.

The case was not complete when court adjourned for the day and will be resumed this morning.

Suffering from a scalp wound, shock and possibly some broken ribs, Prosper Viegard was taken to the Day Kimball hospital early Wednesday evening, when he had been struck, knocked down and dragged a distance of 22 feet by an automobile driven by Miss Cecelia Lessard, district nurse.

The accident happened at the junction of Main and Union streets. Mr. Viegard was crossing the head of Union street, into which Miss Lessard was about to drive her car, a popular type of coupe. Miss Lessard was proceeding at a rapid rate and it is understood that she ran just prior to her machine striking Mr. Viegard. Stories of eye witnesses of the accident vary as to the exact circumstances leading up to the affair, which was investigated during the forenoon by State Officer Arthur W. Williams, who was called here from the post-tracks at Danielson. Captain Remi Delage had made an earlier investigation of the accident.

Following Mr. Viegard's being thrown clear of the machine the car proceeded another distance of approximately 55 feet before coming to a stop in front of the present quarters of the First National bank.

The annual meeting of the New England Milk Producers' association in the Windham county district will be held this Saturday at 10 a. m. The meeting will be called to order by John R. Stromberg, district president, in the rooms of the Windham County Farmers' Association, Union block, Putnam.

The speakers of the field report representatives of the N. E. M. P. A. will be the speaker. Mr. Rickert will outline plans of the combined milk marketing effort that was endorsed by the county delegates at Springfield, November 3.

This meeting is unquestionably one of the most important that has ever been held in Windham county. If producers are to take what might be called a marketing effort, it is highly desirable that they be wholly familiar with the proposed method. The general welfare of milk production as a business can be furthered by putting into practice the New England plans which Mr. Rickert will discuss.

County President John R. Stromberg will report on the meeting of county delegates at Springfield on the evening of November 3, and give his impression of the National Milk Producers' Federation meeting, held on the 9th and 10th. County Agent F. L. Davis will report on some of the observations he made at the Springfield meetings.

There is a prospect that Rev. S. F. Conard will be extended a call to become pastor of the Second Congregational church of this city. Rev. Mr. Conard has preached here since the pastorate became vacant through Rev. Boynton Merrill going to Boston as associate pastor of the Old South church. Rev. Mr. Conard is about 35 years of age and has a family.

Local officials denied all knowledge on Wednesday as to any foundation for a story that the Putnam Foundry and Machine company of this city is to be taken over by the American Radiator company. It is said, however, that there has been important transfers of the stock of the foundry company during the past few months. This may be one basis for the starting of the story of the pending sale of this important industry, which manufactures the Putnam heater, one of the very best makes in the country.

The annual report of the commissioners of Windham county—John A. Dady of this city, E. H. Cortis of Thompson and Urgan LaFrance of Central Village—shows that the Windham County Temporary Home for Children, located in the Sawyer district of this town, has received on the past year with a balance of $124,011 in its favor.

Sunday evening the Lyric Male quartet of New London gave a very pleasing and effective musical evening at the Montville Union Baptist church. They sang the Song of God Goes Forth to War at the Christian Endeavor service, which was extremely well rendered. The regular choir took their usual places for the preaching service, and the pastor, Rev. J. H. Stogame, invited the quartet, with Mr. Hayes as leader, to join them for the praise service. During the preaching service the quartet gave three selections. The first, "Praise the Lord," was sung for the offertory. The second, "At the Close of Day," was given just before the message of the evening. Messrs. Slaters, Dodds and Spencer took their parts exceptionally well, with clear tones, and maintaining perfect harmony all through the selections. Just before the conclusion of the service they were called on again and Mr. Hayes selected a very appropriate number. The Beautiful Golden Gate. Mr. Hayes carried his part very effectively during this selection and there is no doubt that the quartet were a great help to the pastor, for as the invitation was given at the close two young men stood to publicly acknowledge Christ as their personal Saviour.

Keith Vaudeville at the Broadway Theatre.

A fine diversified programme of B. F. Keith vaudeville, consisting of five acts are promised to the Norwich patrons.

The bill is headed by vaudeville's act supreme, in Marshall Montgomery & Co.

Marshall Montgomery is considered the world's best ventriloquist today. This seems like extravagant praise, but after having seen him with all the others, it will be seen that he accomplishes ventriloquism features never before attempted in his line, and that his performance includes more novel features and sensational features than all the others of his class combined. First of all he has a pleasing personality and the collar he wears does not completely cover his neck like some others.

NORWICH MAN HAD HEARTBURN, WATER BRASH, CONSTANT PAIN IN STOMACH

Well-known Grocery Clerk — Very Painful Indigestion, Gas From Everything He Ate—So Nervous Simply Couldn't Sleep — Tried Everything for Relief, Discouraged — Now Entirely Well Through GOLDINE.

"I certainly can't speak too highly of Goldine Tonic and Nerve; for I am now entirely well, and I had such a very bad stomach that I actually hated the sight of the table. It was just torture for me to eat," declares Frank Parkhurst, 16 Broadway, Norwich, Conn. "I took everything to try to find relief. Everything I ate made gas, floating, constant pain; I had dull, sick headache, was dizzy, short of breath and much constipated. I would get so fagged out, nervous and unstrung that I simply could not sleep nights. My limbs would cramp, I had water brash which was very annoying, and constant heartburn almost choked me. I had been troubled nearly five years and was certainly discouraged. But the results from Goldine were remarkable. My stomach would digest anything I would eat without the least gas or distress, my sleep returned and, of course, nervousness disappeared entirely. I got results from my very first bottle of Goldine and I kept at it until I felt like my old self. My friends will all tell you that a wonderful appetite I have. I can say this of Goldine. You don't have to keep taking it. That's three years ago, I haven't had a thing since and am in splendid health today."

You can bank on getting results from GOLDINE like Mr. Parkhurst. Just try it faithfully. Engle's Broadway Pharmacy, Norwich, where GOLDINE Remedies are being introduced by special representative.
